NATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS EDUCATION PROGRAM SINCE 2005

IHRO believes from the day of its inspection that development of Human Rights is not possible without proper human rights education on public and institution level. Therefore IHRO decided to study the United Nations Decade for Human Rights Education (1995-2004) and decided to adopt the United Nations World Program which was adopted by the United Nations General Assembly's resolution 59/113 on 10 December 2004. IHRO started its National Human Rights Program which is still going on since 2005. IHRO designed different mechanism and standards to advance the implementation of human rights education programs. There are 2500 Teachers of school, colleges and universities and 3000 Youth 500 community and NGO leaders and Journalists including officers of Law Enforcement were trained up to now which are working as Leaders of Change in the society.

Pakistan Institute for Human Rights Research and Teaching

IHRO established its “Pakistan Institute for Human Rights Research and Teaching” to facilitate different training programs to continue its National Human Rights Education Program. This institute is working now days online after Pandemic COVID-19. This institute is following the fourth phase of the UN World Program on Human Rights Education after participating in the First , Second and Third Phase of the Human Rights Education Program,

- World Program for Human Rights Education: Plan of Action, First Phase (2005 - 2009)
- World Program for Human Rights Education: Plan of Action, Second Phase (2010- 2014)
- World Program for Human Rights Education: Plan of Action, Third Phase (2015- 2019)
- World Program for Human Rights Education: Plan of Action, Fourth Phase (2020- 2024)

INTRODUCTION INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS UNIVERSITY

The International Human Rights University (IHRO) is a project of International Human Rights Observer (IHRO) which enjoys Special Consultative Status with the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations and an independent, non-profitable, non-political, and non-governmental registered human rights organization working since 1996. IHRO is a human rights advocacy, research, monitoring, training and development organization and working together with Governments, United Nations and other institutions to promote and protect the basic fundamental human rights of the masses declared in the universal charter of human rights of United Nations and other human rights institutions including constitution of Pakistan to build a global village of lasting peace, social, and economic justice and development for the 21st century.

It has large committed human rights defenders and advocates network in Pakistan as well as in 25 countries of the world. It was founded by Dr Khalid Pervaiz Sulehri and his few committed friends in Islamabad-Pakistan. International Human Rights University (IHRO) is an institution of higher education dedicated to the study of Human Rights Created by International Human Rights Observer (IHRO) through its resolution 0112/2010 passed in its General Council Session on 14th August 2010 in Islamabad. This unique proposal was added in the manifesto of IHRO at the time of application for membership to the United Nations ECOSOC Council in 2003 and was accepted including the idea to establish International Human Rights University in Pakistan.

It will be a unique national and global academic institution through its Master's and Doctoral degree and other programmes and will train future leaders to explore and formulate strategies and practices in various contexts to address the causes of multiple problems of human rights affecting human and global wellbeing, and thus contribute to the processes of peacekeeping, peace building and Sustainable development for the promotion and protection of human rights. This noble project of IHRO will empower, transform and cultivate critical thinking on human rights in its students.

The project is in progress and under consultation process on national and international level.

Public, government collaboration sought to uphold human rights

By Mahtab Bashir

ISLAMABAD: Islam defends and advocates human rights and offers best solution for all human rights issues, said participants at the 10th annual national human rights conference at local hotel on Monday.

300 participants from government, civil society and media organisations attended the conference, which was organised by International Human Rights Observer (IHRO), working in collaboration with United Nations.

The messages of President Asif Ali Zardari, Prime Minister Yusuf Raza Gilani and UN Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon on International Human Rights Day were read on the occasion.

Zardari's message noted, "Our faith Islam also teaches us deep respect for rights of all human beings and upholds eternal values of equal rights, justice and peace."

Whereas, the Gilani's message recalled, "Human Rights as mentioned in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights have emanated from the basic principles of Islam, enshrined in the last address of Holy Prophet (pbuh)".

IHRO president Khalid Sulehri in his welcome address said, "Khutba-e-hujjatul Wida, the last address of Holy Prophet (pbuh), is the basic charter of human rights." Parliamentarian Commission for Human Rights Director Shafique Chaudhry believed that Islam provided equal rights to all human beings. He observed that it was not only the duty government to defend human rights "but each one of us is human rights defender."

The role of United Nations also came under discussion in the conference. Syed Zafar Ali Shah of PML-N was of the view that instead of resolving issues, "United Nations and Security Council was discriminating people in the name of human rights." While other speakers strongly criticised the violation of human rights through drone attacks in Pakistan and the indifferent stance of United Nations towards the violation of human rights.

The theme of this year's conference was "Human Rights Defenders" to act to end discrimination.

Chief Guest, Farzana Raja (MNA) Chairwoman of the Benazir Income Support Programme said, "discrimination at any level increases disparity." She believed that human rights defenders who combat against discrimination took us towards democracy, peace and brotherhood.

"True freedom fighters are the representatives of the common man", and Pakistanis fight two wars, terror and poverty side by side, she added.

Chair of the conference, Minister for Human Rights Syed Mumtaz Alam Gilani highlighted the role of government to guard human rights in the country.

"Instead of discriminating people and pointing differences, we should bridge people and communities of the world," stressed Ibrahim Khan, Jamat-e-Islami Parliamentarian. He also stressed that on the basis of the true teaching of Islam, we could achieve goals of peace and equality all over the world.

Haji Adeel of ANP highlighted that democracy and equal rights work hand in hand hence all agencies should work in collaboration to achieve the goal of equality.

Chairman of Imamiya Council Ghazanfar Mehdi said, "the safeguard of human rights is the foremost message of Islam" but it was unfortunate to note that the Muslims had failed to carry the message of peace and tolerance throughout the world.

MQM senator Tahir Husain Mashhadi believed that the right to education was the basic right, which should be provided to all citizens on equal basis. He also stressed on one standardised system of education for rich and poor equally.

Towards the end of the ceremony, awards were distributed among 25 human rights defenders in Pakistan.

25 Years of Struggle for Human Rights

The COVID-19 Emergency Relief Mission 2020-2021 conducted by the International Human Rights Observer (IHRO) in collaboration with the Yasin Youth Forum (YYF) in the Subdivision Yasin, Gilgit-Baltistan, played a crucial role in providing immediate assistance to the affected communities during the pandemic. This mission highlighted the importance of humanitarian aid and the collective efforts of volunteers and local leaders who stepped up to serve during this unprecedented crisis.

Background and Objectives

As the COVID-19 pandemic spread rapidly worldwide, it left communities in remote and mountainous regions like Subdivision Yasin, Ghizer District, facing immense challenges. These areas, already grappling with limited healthcare facilities and harsh living conditions, were hit hard by the pandemic. The IHRO, with its established role as a humanitarian organization, quickly mobilized resources and volunteers to assist the most vulnerable.

The main objectives of the COVID-19 Emergency Relief Mission:

1. Provision of food and essential supplies: Due to the lockdown and movement restrictions, many daily wage earners and small business owners lost their sources of income. The IHRO aimed to mitigate food insecurity by distributing rations to those in need

2. Awareness campaigns: Educating the community about preventive measures such as social distancing, wearing masks, and proper sanitation to reduce the spread of the virus.

3. Coordination with local authorities: Ensuring the smooth implementation of the relief mission through effective collaboration with local government officials, law enforcement, and community

4. Support for healthcare services: Distribution of Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) to local health units and monitoring teams.

Execution and Team Formation

The IHRO, in partnership with YYF, formed a 22-member volunteer team under the leadership of Asif Hussain (Head of Relief Mission G.B.) and Sakhi Murad (District Coordinator). These volunteers came together for a two-day strategic meeting at Durbar Hotel in May 2020, where they discussed the mission's objectives and developed a plan of action.

The mission was divided into multiple phases:

- Phase I: Ration distribution in Qorqolti to Siliharang.
- Phase II: Distribution in Silgan-Thoi.
- Phase III: Aid to Yasin Proper and surrounding villages.
- Phase IV and V: Support to families in Thoi and Nazbar.

Through a collaborative approach, the IHRO and YYF identified deserving families across these areas. A rigorous verification process ensured that the aid reached the most needy individuals. Volunteers worked tirelessly to pack and distribute rations to 247 families over five phases. Each family received essential food items, including rice, cooking oil, pulses, and hygiene products.

Fundraising and Donations

Fundraising played a pivotal role in the success of the mission. The IHRO raised over PKR 500,000 through generous donations from local philanthropists, businesses, and well-wishers. The campaign also included door-to-door collection drives, establishing a donation shop, and setting up collection boxes in markets to encourage community involvement.

Key donors included Baigle Social Welfare, which contributed 70 ration packs, Senator Talha Mahmood Foundation, which donated rice and cooking oil, and several local businessmen. Despite financial challenges, the IHRO team remained committed to their cause, overcoming logistical obstacles such as difficult terrain and limited transportation options.

Awareness Campaigns and Healthcare Support

In addition to providing food, the IHRO and YYF focused on raising awareness about COVID-19 prevention. Volunteers distributed PPE kits to local healthcare centers and monitoring stations. These efforts were critical in controlling the spread of the virus in the region. Through public demonstrations and door-to-door visits, the volunteers educated the community on the importance of wearing masks, washing hands, and maintaining physical distance.

Health centers such as Lalak Jan Hospital and Aga Khan Health Center were supported with PPE donations. Furthermore, entry and exit monitoring cells were set up in different villages to track and prevent the movement of potentially infected individuals.

Challenges and Outcomes

The IHRO faced several challenges during the mission. The remote location and mountainous terrain of Yasin made access to certain areas difficult. Volunteers had to travel by foot or rely on public transportation to reach families in need. Additionally, working with a diverse group of stakeholders, including politicians, religious leaders, and social organizations, required careful negotiation and coordination.

Despite these obstacles, the mission was largely successful. The team distributed rations to 247 families, provided PPE to healthcare facilities, and raised awareness about COVID-19 prevention. The mission's positive impact was widely acknowledged by the community, and it set a precedent for future humanitarian efforts in the region.

The COVID-19 Emergency Relief Mission 2020 undertaken by the IHRO in Gilgit-Baltistan demonstrated the power of community-driven humanitarian initiatives. The volunteers' dedication, combined with the support of local donors and authorities, helped alleviate the suffering of hundreds of families during the pandemic. This mission underscored the importance of timely and coordinated action in crisis situations and showcased IHRO's commitment to serving humanity, especially in remote and underserved areas.

Call for projecting Kashmir through conferences, seminars

BAKHITAWAR MIAN

ISLAMABAD—Gathered at a conference 'National human rights conference on Kashmir' speakers accused the international community especially the big powers and the UN of complete apathy towards the gross human rights violations in occupied Kashmir at the hands of the Indian army.

Organised by International Human Rights Observer, the conference was attended by human rights activists, political figures and other people from different walks of life. They were unanimous that worst kinds of human rights violations were being committed on innocent Kashmiris but the international community was totally ignoring for their being Muslim.

Famous human rights activist, Syed Zakir Hussain Shah, speaking on the occasion underlined the need for arranging such conferences and seminars in order to project the Kashmir issue in its right perspective.

He said human rights are excessively violated in Kashmir, holy places are desecrated, women dishonoured and other people subjected to varied atrocities. India has signed the Universal Declaration for Human Rights adopted by the UN in 1949 but does not honour it, he said adding that the so-called champion of human rights fabricate false excuses to implicate the Muslim countries in violations of human rights and raise voices against them but act as silent spectators over these violations.

Zakir Hussain said that it was Islam which introduced human rights in the world for the first time. He was of the view that instead of raising hollow slogans for Jihad and Islam, we should practically work for and project the rights of Kashmiris irrespective of which ever religion they belong to.

Nazir Ahmad Khan of the Hamdard Foundation was of the opinion that the Kashmir issue could not be solved because of our failure to project it properly in the international community.

Prof Salamat Akhtar, president All Pakistan Minorities Joint Action Committee objected to Pakistani policies regarding Kashmir saying the minorities were never given any representation in talks on Kashmir. He said the minorities especially the Christian community always considered Kashmir as integral part of Pakistan, then as now. He condemned the international community and the UN for its failure to solve the issue. He emphasised that all human rights organisations should jointly work for the liberation of the Kashmiris on the Kashmir issue. He emphasised on taking the issue to the UN General Assembly, whereas, he said, a human rights commission was working for the purpose. He also suggested that the issue should be taken to the International Court of Justice for seeking its advisory opinion on the issue in the same way as Pakistan had recourse to it for the solution of its Rann of Kutch issue which was then solved through its efforts.

Raja Muhammad Azad Khan, president All Jammu and Kashmir Muslim League said the whole Muslim World is discriminated against. He said that India herself took the Kashmir issue to the UN Security Council but then backed out to implement its resolutions. He said Pakistan is a peace loving country but India was always resorting to provocative policies.

In the end, president IHRO Kjalid Altaf Suleri said the main purpose of this organization was to highlight human rights violations throughout the world.

ADVOCACY CAMPAIGN OF UNIVERSAL DECLARATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS OF THE UNITED NATIONS

THE UNIVERSAL DECLARATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS

ARTICLE 1

All human beings are born free and equal in dignity and rights. ...

INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS DAY

International human rights Observer \(IHRO\) is one the biggest campaigner of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR) of the United Nations since its creation in 1996. IHRO started its national campaign of UDHR in 1998 and published , recorded and distributed advocacy material among different groups of the society including organizations, colleges , universities teachers and students and to other stake holders . The UDHR is a milestone document in the history of human rights. Drafted by representatives with different legal and cultural backgrounds from all regions of the world, the Declaration was proclaimed by the United Nations General Assembly in Paris on 10 December 1948 (General Assembly resolution 217 A) as a common standard of achievements for all peoples and all nations. It sets out, for the first time, fundamental human rights to be universally protected and it has been translated into over 500 languages. The UDHR is widely recognized as having inspired, and paved the way for, the adoption of more than seventy human rights treaties, applied today on a permanent basis at global and regional levels .

PARLIAMENTARIAN ASSEMBLY FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

International Human Rights Observer (IHRO) Pakistan for the first time in the country has established the Parliamentarian Assembly for Human Rights (PAHR). The aim of this initiative is to recognize and address all important human rights issues in the Parliament of Pakistan through elected parliamentarians. The parliamentarians involved in this project will try to ensure that parliamentary activities are undertaken to advance the full implementation of international human rights standards in the country.

Youth Parliament for Human Rights

IHRO has also established its “Youth Parliament on Human Rights “ and has involved youth and students of the college and universities level for promotion of the United Nations Charter of Human rights . There are 10000 Youth /Students are now has become the part of this national campaign.
